Faunae 2016

Chianti Classico DOCG

Representative of an uncontaminated land of breath-taking landscapes that has remained unchanged through time, Faunae perfectly expresses the essence of Chianti Classico and its terroir.

Climatic trend

The regular rainfall during the winter, together with the dry and sunny spring that followed, contributed to a homogeneous development of the leaves. During the first weeks of August, significant rain brought some much-needed respite to the plants, storing all the necessary substances in the clusters to obtain a product of excellent quality. Given the altitude of the growing area, summer dryness is often avoided. September and October were drier with chilly evening temperatures, allowing the grapes to develop and ripen perfectly and bringing pleasant aromatic notes to the wine.

Technical notes

Origin: Chianti Classico
Wine Variety: Sangiovese and complementary varieties
Alcohol content: 13%
Maturation: Steel - 12 Months

Tasting notes

An intensely ruby-red wine with bright hues. The bouquet predominately features cherry, blackberry and wild berries, and in the mouth the wine is enveloping and soft, with good tannin levels and notable persistence.

Wine pairing: This elegant, structured wine is an ideal accompaniment to grilled meats, aged cheeses and ethnic dishes.
