Pomino Vendemmia Tardiva 2004

Pomino Bianco DOC

An amber colour with subtle shades of orange, full-bodied, velvety and creamy, it combines well with herb cheeses and can also be enjoyed by itself as a meditation wine.

Climatic trend

This year the harvest has begun 15-20 days later than in 2003, when, due to the drought in the spring of that year, the harvest began notably earlier than usual. 2004 was distinguished by its close to normal season, with a cooler spring than those of the preceding years, and a delayed budding. During the summer the temperatures stabilized below the norm for the season, and only in the last two weeks of July did they begin to climb. The soils are well drained yet at the same time have a substantial water reserve. The cool and mild nights will help produce elegant wines. The bunches are sparse, and the berries are in very good condition, both in terms of size as well as structure and concentration.

Tasting notes

A subtle, orange-tinged amber announces our late-harvest Pomino. It develops an appealing aromatic contrast between zesty citrus impressions and sweet dried fruit, particularly peach and apricot. The palate exhibits a pleasing vibrancy, with a crisp acidity complementing a creamy, silk-smooth mouthfeel. The finish is lengthy and delicious.

Wine pairing: Enjoy it with blue cheeses, particularly Italy's Gorgonzola, or simply sip it on its own. For the adventuresome, pair it with foie gras.
