Pomino Vin Santo 2007

Pomino Vinsanto DOC

Pomino Vinsanto merits enjoyment all by itself as a "vino da meditazione", but enjoy it as well with mixed nuts and dried fruits.

Climatic trend

The first grapes to be picked, in the third week of August, demonstrated that the 2007 harvest was to be outstanding, the natural culmination of a good growing season. During the 2006-07 winter, vineyards in Tuscany benefited from very mild weather, the mildest since 1950. The previous autumn too was very favourable, so that the vines kept their leaves until quite late, excellent conditions that allowed the vineyards to build up reserves that ensured an excellent and promising harvest. The spring months were mild, with scarce rain and little heat stress, conditions that produced sound, healthy fruit on the vines. Thanks to summer the growth cycle received a great push, and began a good 2-3 weeks earlier than preceding years.
